GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Order—No. 1275, Judicial, dated 10th June 1915.

In paragraph 6 of G.O. No. 1608, Judicial, dated the 24th July 1914, reviewing the report of the working of the Indian Factories Act, 1911, for the year 1913, the Government remarked that the desirability of maintaining appliances for first aid and the necessity of promptly treating minor injuries should be impressed on factory owners and they requested the Surgeon-General to report whether he could cause to be prepared, for distribution to factories, a leaflet containing concise but clear directions as to the maintenance and use of antiseptic dressings for application immediately upon the occurrence of an accident. The Surgeon-General recommended that Chapters VIII, IX and X of the Indian Manual of First Aid by Major Blackham be printed and hung up in prominent places in factories and that one or more members of each factory be instructed to carry out first aid as directed in those chapters. The Board of Revenue further suggested that all factory owners might be advised to keep a small ambulance chest. The Surgeon-General approves this suggestion of the Board of Revenue and recommends that a First Aid compressed kit, which can be had for Rs. 30 from the Manager, St. John Ambulance Association, Indian Stores Depot, Bombay, may be kept in each factory to deal with cases requiring first aid treatment.

2. The Government accept the above recommendations and are pleased to direct that Chapters VIII, IX and X of the Indian Manual of First Aid by Major Blackham be printed at the Government Press for supply to those factories in which there is some one who knows English. The extracts will be printed on sheets 30″ × 22″ (Imperial) and 500 copies will be kept in stock at the Government Press for sale to factory owners. The copies are priced at an anna each. The Inspector of Factories should, during his tours, advise factory owners to purchase copies of the extracts and the First Aid kit mentioned above, so that injuries met with by operatives in the course of their work may be treated immediately on occurrence by some member of the factory instructed to carry out first aid.
